Columbus, O., June 4. — The Ohio Republican convention concluded its business today and adjourned. A state ticket was named and a platform adopted. There was much enthusiasm displayed and no serious hitch marred the proceedings. Senator Foraker's speech and the withdrawal of Boothman from the race for lieutenant governor were the features of the day. The auditorium was packed to the doors when Senator Hanna, temporary chairman, called the convention to order. Prayer was offered by Rev. James Folmester, pastor of a local colored Baptist church. The report of the committee on credentials seating the Rous delegates from Monroe and the Sands delegates from Hooking was adopted. Before the convention assembled Boothman withdrew for lieutenant governor. Before the convention assembled Boothman withdrew for lieutenant governor. proxy chairman), deserve at our hands that we shall do it—every man of us. (Long continued applause.) We are going to do it because Senator Hanna, during the last six years has rendered distinguished and conspicuous service to his party and to his country in the senate of the United States. (More applause.) Another duty to which I have not yet referred is yet broader, more important, more serious, but it possible, easier still, if anything could be easier. That is to elect Theodore Roosevelt to be his own successor. (Prolonged applause, the delegates rising to their feet and cheering enthusiastically.) We intend to do this because he, like Senator Hanna, merits that honor. (Renewed applause.) He has fairly won it. He entered upon the duties of the presidency under the most trying circumstances. There were many who doubted his ability to succeed. Many predicted failure. But today, it can be safely said that he has not only met, but he has surpassed the most exacting expectations of his most confident and ardent friends. (Long continued applause.)

THE NOMINATIONS.

WARREN G. HARDING.

cothe made quite a stirring speech that the nomination of Mr. Herick be made by acclamation. He was most enthusiastically received and his motion carried amid great applause when Herick was declared the nominee for governor and a committee, consisting of Albert Douglas of Chillicothe, Jacob Beldier of Cleveland and George Cox of Cincinnati was appointed to escort Mr. Herick to the hall. When Mr. Herick arrived he received a stirring ovation.

During the week there had been a lively contest between the friends of State Senator W. G. Harding and M. Boothman for second place on the ticket, but when Senator Hanna refused to take action the latter withdrew and presented the name of Warren G. Harding, editor of the Marion Star, who was nominated with as much unanimity as Herick for governor. Captain Nutt, another candidate for this place, did as much as Douglas had done, in moving to make the nomination unanimous. That, Mr. Harding accepted in a stirring speech. Nominations by acclamation were stopped and the fight on so-called "third terms" began when W. A. Irwin presented the name of Colonel Melville J. Gillette, of Newark, for auditor of state and Congressman Robert M. Nevin presented the name of Walter D. Gilbert of Caldwell for renomination and the delay in balloting followed.

The larger counties all voted solidly for Auditor Gilbert, who has been in that office eight years as deputy and eight as auditor, in all 16 years, and he was nominated for another term of four years, receiving 739 votes to 123 for Gillette. The nomination was not made unanimous. For state treasurer, Perry Remick presented the name of Speaker W. S. McKinnon of Ashtabula, and ex-Congressman D. K. Watson that of Nelson A. Sims of Columbus. The ballot resulted: McKinnon, 640%; Sims, 22%. On the announcement of the vote, McKinnon was declared the nominee and the nomination was made unanimous on the motion of Governor Nash.

For attorney general, ex-Congressman Jacob H. Hamwell presented the name of Wade Hampton Ellis, and he was nominated without opposition.

For supreme judge, General J. Warren Keifer presented the name of Augustus M. Summers of Springfield; Representative Ralph D. Cole that of Judge Jacob F. Burkett of Findlay; J. S. Rutledge that of Samuel A. Wildman of Norwalk; and J. E. Todd that of Attorney General John M. Sheets of Ottawa. Out of a total vote of 878 it required 437 to nominate. The first ballot resulted: Summers, 292; Burkett, 180; Wildman, 202; Sheets, 213. No nomination, and the convention proceeded on the call of the 88 counties for the second ballot.

The second ballot for supreme judge resulted: Summers, 589%; Burkett, 168; Wildman, 112%; Sheets, 163. No nomination. The third ballot resulted: Summers, 606; Burkett, 25; Wildman, 13; Sheets, 47. The nomination of Summers was made unanimous.

For school commissioner, E. W. Walcott presented the name of J. W. Sellar of Findlay; J. B. Waite that of Lewis D. Bonebrake of Mt. Vernon; W. S. Cora that of S. P. Humphrey of Ironton; Congressman R. W. Taylor that of Edwin A. Jones of Massillon. The first ballot resulted: Bonebrake, 318; Sellar, 166; Jones, 195; Humphrey, 195. No nomination.

The second ballot for school commissioner resulted: Bonebrake, 361; Sellar, 148; Humphrey, 148. No nomination. The name of Humphrey and Sellar were then withdrawn. Before the third ballot was completed the nomination of Jones was made unanimous. He was nominated over Bonebrake on the issue of spider representation on the ticket. Jones was a private soldier. The third ballot for school commissioner resulted: Jones 606%, Bonebrake 296%, and was completed amid great disorder and excitement. For member of the board of public works, George H. Watkins of Wakefield was nominated without opposition. The state committee was authorized to fill all vacancies, the cage was adopted as the party emblem, and the convention adjourned after 5 o'clock adjourned sine die.

THE PLATFORM.

The report on rules and order of business was then adopted and then the following platform was adopted: The Republicans of Ohio believe in the results of Republican administration in the state and nation. It has promoted the welfare of the entire country. Past achievements insure the faithful performance of new duties. Ohio enters upon her second century of statehood with a record unequalled. Republican control has aided immeasurably in placing our state in the very forefront of the union of states comprising the world's greatest nation. We commend President Roosevelt's fidelity to duty, his adherence to President McKinley's policies, and his own proved ability in his high office, showing him to be every way worthy of election by the people to be their chief magistrate. We favor his nomination for president in 1904. The Ohio Republican delegation in congress has honored the state in both houses. Senators Joseph B. Foraker and Marcus A. Hanna have splendidly maintained Ohio's leadership. We hereby cordially promise him the undivided support of the entire Republican party of Ohio. Governor George K. Nash and his able assistants in the state offices, for their faithful and successful administration, deserve the generous commendation and gratitude of the people. In Ohio, as in the nation, Republican achievements compel popular approval. Our state debt is canceled, the cash surplus in our treasury is largest on record, the state institutions were never more efficiently or economically conducted, and yet the state tax rate has been reduced by half through Republican laws. Wherby corporate interests are required to bear a more equitable share of the burden of taxation, so far as is possible under the constitution, and restrictions of Ohio's present organic law. We favor removing limitations which prevent a more just system of taxation, so that property can be equitably classified for taxation purposes, and let the most careful consideration of the amendment for that purpose to be voted upon at the election next November.

Ohio ought not to be terminated longer against her own corporations, their holdings of credit, resources, and other benefits, and we therefore favor and endorse the amendment to remove the present provision in our state constitution for the double liability of stockholders.

We also favor the amendments to vest the governor with the veto power, and to provide for county legislative districts, so that each county will have at least one member in the lower house of each general assembly, and we authorize the amendment of these amendments upon our official ballots.

The home waterways, the Ohio public works, can be modernized at a cost so moderate as not to weigh against the vast benefits to be derived. They started our state on its progress, put millions into its treasury, and can do so again. Instead of the perpetual threat of abandonment, they are accorded a degree of encouragement commensurate with their importance, and we favor their maintenance upon a basis of efficiency creditable to the state and adapted to the traffic necessities of our growing commerce.

The question of transportation is one of the most important business problems now before the American people for determination. The full utilization of our inland waterways is demanded by all business before the American people for determination. REV. J. F. MORTON

Called Away After A Lingerin Illness.

Forty Years As Pastor

Of The Reformed Presbyterian Church Of This Place.

After forty years as pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church, Dr. J. F. Morton, was called from his earthly labors to his eternal rest at about six o'clock, Sabbath morning, May 31. He death was due to heart trouble from which he suffered for several months. He had not occupied his pulpit since some time in March and his death was not unexpected, as friends and relatives have from day to day watched for the reports of his condition from his bedside.

REV. J. F. MORTON, D. D.

James Foyil Morton, son of James and Mary (Brackenridge) Morton, was born near Fayetteville, Lincoln county, Tenn., January 18, 1828.

In his early youth his father's family removed to Salem, Illinois, where his years were spent upon the farm and in the work of teaching. It was always the intention of the deceased to enter the ministry and in accordance with his views he entered Monmouth college, from which institution he graduated in 1861. In 1863 he graduated from Monmouth seminary. His first call was to Cincinnati, but declined, to accept a call to Cedarville. Rev. Robert McCaslin, then pastor of the R. P. church at Xenia preached the ordination sermon and Rev. Samuel Wylie offered the ordination prayer. This was his only charge and just two weeks ago Tuesday he finished his fortieth year of pastorate. In 1874 he was offered a professorship in the R. P. seminary at Philadelphia, and two years later pastorate of the Second R. P. church at Philadelphia, both of which he declined. In 1881 Monmouth college conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity. He was chosen moderator of the General Synod in 1872 and 1883. In 1894 he was elected vice president and professor of Bible study in Cedarville college, holding both position until his death.

Dr. Morton was united in marriage June 3, 1863 to Miss Martha Blair. She survives him together with three children, Mrs. Lula McCasney, Miss Jennie Morton and Mr. C. G. Morton, all of this place.

During Dr. Morton's pastorate here he held several positions of honor in his denomination, and at one time was editor of the Advocate, his church paper. His long life was one of great benefit to the people of this community. Dr. Morton watched the creation of the new church edifices very carefully until its completion. At a time previous to the dedication of this house of worship, his health was very poor and his friends feared that he would not see the completion of a temple as a memorial to his work. Yet his life was spared and on September 9th the dedicatory exercises were held; Dr. Morton offering the dedicatory prayer.

In the Herald's account of his work, given at the time of the dedicatory exercises, we referred to the pastor's work and his association with churchmen and citizens in general, and at different times it seemed to be a pleasure to him to refer to the article when in the writer's presence.

"The congregation has been faithful and loyal to Dr. Morton, and well they should be for he has been faithful to them. As one speaker phrased it: 'he has served them not only loyally but royally.' Their interests have ever been his interest. When any of his people have suffered he has suffered with them; when they have mourned he has mourned; and when any have rejoiced he has rejoiced. He has baptized the children, married the young people, and buried the dead for these many years. Is it any wonder that the hearts of pastor and people are united at this time by very tender bonds? But the influence of Dr. Morton has extended farther than to his congregation and it is of him as a citizen that we wish to write. A good number have had the rare pleasure of sitting under his preaching, but every citizen of the town has felt the influence of his Godly life. He has been found upon the right side of every public question that has arisen in this community during his sojourn here, and his pure and holy life has been a standing rebuke to all forms of iniquity and sin. "The magnificent church edifice stands as a memorial, erected by a loyal people, to his work. But long after it has crumbled into dust, the influence of his life will be felt in this town and vicinity. "What work his has been! Some have given millions to found colleges and charitable institutions and have received great praise from many, but here is one who has given his all—his life—in the service of the Master, and who will dare say that his work has been less than that of the man who has given millions? "How'er it be, it seems to me, 'Tis only noble to be good. Kind hearts are more than coronets, And simple faith than Norman blood." The funeral service was in charge of Dr. McKinney. Other ministers who took part in the exercises were Dr. J. G. Carson, Revs. Patton, Brownie, Davidson, Kyle, Middleton, Robb, Smiley, Collins. The floral tributes were beautiful and were the gifts of friends and the congregation. Wm. Conley and J. H. Cresswell, from the Board of Trustees, J. H. Cresswell and N. L. Ramsey, from the Session, A. M. Collins, Z. T. Phillips, James Gregg and J. H. McMillan from the congregation were the pallbearers.

RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, it has pleased an all-wise Providence to remove by death the beloved vice president of this institution, Dr. J. F. Morton, be it resolved by the students of Cedarville College: First: That in this bereavement we recognize the hand of Him that doeth all things well, and bow in humble submission to His divine will. Second: That by his death we have lost a very dear friend, and one who was always interested in the welfare of the college and of its members. Third: That we extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy, and commend them to Him who will sustain them in their sorrow. Fourth: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, to the faculty, to the local papers, to the Xenia Gazette, and to the Reformed Presbyterian Witness and Missionary Advocate.

Committee: Carrie Rife, John J. Wilson, Agnes Stormont.

Straw Hats In Endless Profusion

THERE never was a season of so many straw hat shapes, when a man could simply buy anything he wanted and yet be in style. So far the flat sailor hats with wide brims in the rough Sennit and smooth split braid have been the most popular. The soft brim hats in the square, telescope and dented crowns have also been much in demand. Genuine Panamas are even more the craze than last year, and though always expensive our prices of $5.00, $8.00, $10.00 and $15.00 save you at least $3. Our straws at 50c in soft or stiff brims distance any 75c straw hat you ever saw. The same proportion is true of our $1, $2 and $3 grades. We're hat men—that's our business and our whole time is devoted to it. Is it any wonder we undersell the small stores and those who merely make a side issue of hats?

HOW IT WAS OBSERVED.

Decoration day was observed in a very appropriate manner last Saturday, despite the inclement weather. Music for the day was furnished by the Jamestown and Edgfield band. In the morning a large delegation from the G. A. R. along with many individuals went to Massie's Creek cemetery. In the afternoon the G. A. R., Odd Fellows and one hundred school children, headed by the band marched to the north cemetery. In the evening the exercises were conducted with an excellent program. The opening prayer was offered by Prof. W. R. McChesney. A recitation was given by Frank Young, followed by a recitation by Marie Garlough of Clifton. A very pleasing solo was rendered by Prof. R. A. Brown, entitled: "Just Before the Battle, Mother." Dr. Carson, of Xenia, was next introduced by William Liff, as the speaker of the evening and his address to the comrades was very instructive. Rev. H. C. Middleton pronounced the benediction. Mrs. Frantz gave several patriotic piano selections during the evening.

THREE HORSES BURNED.

South Charleston, June 3.—Three fine horses burned in a fire which occurred this morning at about 1 o'clock. They were owned by Van Horn, a prominent citizen, who lives in the city. A passerby noticed a blaze in the barn at 12:30 and at once sounded the alarm. The neighborhood was quickly aroused and every effort was made to save the property. At first it was believed there were no horses in the stable, but the screams of the burning animals told of their presence after which it was too late to rescue them. Loss about $1,500. —Springfield Sun.
